Miss Yvonne Bloudeau and Miss Agnes Carey of Granville left this morning for Burlington, where they will remain over the week end with friends.

Rev. A. A. Blair of Livermore, Me., who speaks to-morrow at the Universalist church, will speak Sunday evening before the Young People's society at Goddard.

Miss Leonide Marin of the state hospital at Waterbury returned to her duties there after visiting for a few days at the home of her parents on Laurel street.

Attorney A. A. Sargent left this morning for Middlebury, where to-night he will attend a banquet and the initiatory ceremonies of the Delta Upsilon fraternity, which receives several of the Middlebury college freshmen as candidates.

Miss Rose Hopkins, a recent graduate nurse of the Boston hospital in Montpelier, returned to East Calais yesterday, having left her patient, little Albee Wilbur, who is quite seriously ill at her home, to take the semi-annual state board examination to qualify as a registered nurse.

Rev. Arthur A. Blair of Livermore Falls, Me., will preach Sunday morning in the First Universalist church. Rev. Mr. Blair comes with the possibility of accepting a call to the Barre church and this will be the only opportunity for the people of the parish to hear him. He will speak to the young people at Goddard seminary at 7:30 Sunday evening. Mr. Blair will be at Hotel Barre during his stay in this city.

Every member of Barre council of the Knights of Columbus, No. 401, is extended the invitation to attend the reorganization of the third degree in the Montpelier lodge rooms in the Union block on State street Sunday evening. A class of 50 or more candidates will be received in the order that evening. All the visiting knights are requested to be at the club rooms at 6:30 to attend the church services with the candidates in a body. If there is a reason for it, a special car will be run to Barre after the degree work.

The victory arch in the City square is soon to be dismantled, for the committee of the Board of Trade appointed to dispose of the edifice has concluded that the arch has weathered the northern Vermont elements long enough. The question of disposal has caused a few queries to be made, but they have now decided that it will be sold just as it stands, except for the panels bearing the names, to the highest bidder at public auction. The date for this sale has not been decided upon, though it is understood it will occur sometime during the coming week. Due notice will be given the public.

Who's Who in America says that George K. Cherrie has conducted explorations in the valley of the Orinoco for Lord Rothschild, for the Tring museum in French Guinea; curator for ornithology and mammalogy of the Brooklyn institution; was a member of the American museum expedition to Colombia, valley of the Magdalena river and the high interior; represented American Museum of Natural History in the Roosevelt expedition through South America; was a naturalist for the Collins-Day South American expedition and has written on South American birds with descriptions of new species. Barre opera house Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 8 p. m. Tickets on sale at Mrs. Shepard's store.—adv.

With the week end comes a lull in the Hotel Barre business, for then many of the traveling and business men with homes in New England and neighboring middle Atlantic states, endeavor to be working in the proximity of their homes. Of late, however, the rooms have been far too few to accommodate everyone wishing to stay there over night, and consequently some have been turned away. But this would not be done until every lodging resource had been utilized. Hotel Barre is gaining a favorable name throughout New England and other states, especially among the traveling salesmen, and the mention of this hotel reminds them of their big Vermont home with all the comforts and accommodations necessary in life.

Miss Lyle Ewen of Liberty street left yesterday for New Haven, Conn., to attend the Princeton-Yale football game there this afternoon. Afterwards she will visit her sisters in Hartford, Conn., and New York City.

Why not take her to Cherrie's illustrated lecture, "The Roosevelt South American Expedition—Down the River of Doubt," Barre opera house, Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 8 o'clock? Advance sale of tickets at Mrs. Shepard store. Adults 50c, students 25c.—adv.

E. N. Normandeau of Montreal, who came here last Wednesday by automobile, returned yesterday afternoon by railway, having stored his car here for the winter. Mr. Normandeau, formerly a contractor of this city, has established himself in the real estate business and came here for a short business trip only.

Mrs. Frank Woodcock of 20 Hall street entertained on gentlemen's night, which was last night, the members of the ladies' missionary society of the Baptist church. The evening was spent in playing games and enjoying a short entertainment, which had been arranged by the ladies. Light refreshments were served.

The girls of the seminary held a meet yesterday which was successful in forming several basketball teams in the school. The school will have a league, made up of six teams, one representing each class and one each representing the two commercial classes. The boys will also form a school league. The schedule will be finished in the near future.

Through H. W. Slocum, secretary of the Vermont Tuberculosis league, it was learned this morning that Dr. Landis of Phillips institute of Philadelphia, Pa., will be in Barre Nov. 20, in connection with the tuberculosis investigation being conducted by the National Tuberculosis association. Dr. Landis, especially in the United States, is considered one of the leading authorities on tuberculosis.

Coch Leachy put his charges of the Goddard football aggregation through one of the hardest workouts of the season yesterday, the men floundering through the mud for an hour, battling in an informal scrimmage between the first and second teams.

The main work consisted of perfecting the attack and attempting to break up forward passes used by the second team. "Zeke" Thompson, the husky guard, broke through the line of the second team time after time and broke up the punting of Kelly. He ran 45 yards for a touchdown after recovering a punt which he blocked. The seminary team, so says Coach Leachy, is putting up an excellent brand of football. Its defensive and offensive attacks are fast improving. Flannigan, who has been putting up a fine brand of rugby for the team as substitute end, received a sprained ankle last night, which will keep him from the gridiron for a few days and perhaps for the remainder of the season.

MONTPELIER

A special meeting of the board of control was held Friday morning in the governor's office, with all members attending excepting Will L. Davis of Rutland. It was held for the purpose of cleaning up a few matters that have been left undone. These included the authorizing of clerical assistance in the office and the salary of the clerk, but the board refused for the present at least, to grant an increase to one of the clerks in the office of the board of charities and probation.

Of the 20 carloads of soft coal which the Central Vermont railway has held up by the fuel administration order, none were consigned to Montpelier or Barre. There is one set on a siding at Waterbury. There were four at Burlington, a large number of them at St. Albans and a few scattered in other places. It is expected that an order will be shortly received to allow delivery of the coal. The Central Vermont company has about five months' supply of coal on hand, but if the strike had continued it is very probable that the company would have been called upon to help out some of the other nearby companies.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Chandler left last evening for Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Jude F. M. Butler, accompanied by Mrs. Butler and his daughter and grandson, left this morning for his home in Rutland.

Deputy United States Marshal G. F. Lacey went to Burlington this morning on federal department of justice work.

T. R. Merrill went to Burlington this morning, carrying with him his bass viol, or fiddle, as he calls it. While coming up State street a few nights ago the strap which he used to carry it broke, allowing the fiddle to drop to the ground, breaking it in several places. It is expected that repairs can be made in Burlington, although it is a very delicate piece of work.

Wreckage on Lake Superior Points to Loss of Big Ore Carrier.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 14.—From reports of wreckage off Manitowish Island at the head of Keweenaw point, it is feared the big ore carrier John Owen, reported overdue, was lost in the heavy gale that has raged over Lake Superior through the week. From the description it is believed that the wreckage was part of the upper works of the Owen. Coast guards are patrolling the shores on the lookout for survivors.

The gale, which continues with heavy snow, is said by lake men to be the worst so far this year on the upper lakes.
